STUDENT-CENTERED LEARNING

Student-centered learning moves students from passive receivers of information to active participants in their own discovery process. No more “Because I said so...” type of teaching. Instead, learn how to effectively allow students to discover the hows and whys of education. What students learn, how they learn it, and how their learning is assessed are all driven by each individual student’s needs and abilities. However, structure is still a necessary component of instruction.

Join Dr. Brandy Hempen in this virtual, self-paced workshop to discover the many ways to transition to a student-centered, standards-based classroom making teaching more fun for you and learning more meaningful for the students. These high-impact, low-prep strategies will help transform your classroom to meet the needs of today’s students in a stress-free way!
